

Automatic Fire Alarm Association

The Automatic Fire Alarm Association was founded in 1953 and is the only professional national association dedicated to representing the automatic fire detection and fire alarm systems industry. AFAA is currently active nationally and in 28 states.

Siemens, Poole Fire Protection and Johnson Controls invites you to attend an introductory meeting to start a State Association of the AFAA

- AFAA promotes certification
- Representation on multiple NFPA standard technical committees including ICC codes, NFPA 72, and NFPA 101.
- Promotes interactions with AHJ, designers and trade associations
- Provides training on a local level
- Access to industry leading experts for technical expertise.
